Dedication

....her dedication and desire to improve the quality of art in our lives.

Ms. Terry is dedicated to the school and students.

She works hard and spends individual time
with the students.

She gives us her best.

*Best wishes always!

MISS PATRICIA TERRY
ART TEACHER and PUBLICATIONS

This yearbook should be dedicated to Ms. Terry mainly because of her dedication to her students. She has been here only three years and has already organized a newspaper. She devotes hours after school into making it and the yearbook a success.

Capital Day girls win KAIS championship

Special to the State Journal

Capital Day's sixth, seventh and eighth grade girls basketball team won the Kentucky Association of Independent Schools Middle School Tournament Saturday in Louisville at the Kentucky Country Day gym.

After drawing a first-round bye, Capital Day defeated Martin Luther School 20-14 Saturday morning. CDS then beat Kentucky Country Day 11-10 in the finals Saturday night.

In the semifinal game, Capital Day was plagued by turnovers and poor shooting. However, defense kept the Senators in the game and enabled them to lead at the end of each quarter. The Senators led 6-3 at the end of the first quarter, 10-6 at halftime, and 15-8 going into the final quarter of play.

Capital Day was led in scoring by Ryan Waterfield with eight points and nine rebounds, and she also had two assists and one steal. Carolyn Caton had four points, four rebounds, one assist and two steals while Sarah Caton had four points, seven rebounds, one assist and two steals.

Whitney Chisholm had two points, Rachel Duvall had two points and one steal, and Heather Weir had two rebounds.

The championship Saturday night was the third meeting between Capital Day and Kentucky Country Day this season. Capital Day won all three of this season's games, and Saturday's victory was the sixth in the three-year rivalry that began in the same tournament. In that game three years ago, Kentucky Country Day won by three points in triple overtime.

This year Capital Day pulled out a one-point victory and the school's first KAIS Middle School Tournament championship. CDS had finished third and second in the previous two tournaments.

In Capital Day's 11-10 victory, Kentucky Country Day played a tight fullcourt man-to-man defense throughout the game. Capital Day was successful in beating the press but the press altered its offense, and Country Day's 5-10 center gave the Frankfort school trouble when it drove to the basket.

Capital Day in turn was successful in keeping Kentucky Country Day from getting good shots with a strong zone defense designed to keep the Louisville team's big center from getting the ball for shots or for passes down low.

The Capital Day girls trailed 2-1 after the first quarter but held a 4-2 lead at the half. The Senators trailed 8-7 at the end of three quarters, but Capital Day then outscored Country Day 4-2 in the last quarter on a field goal by Sarah Caton and two free throws by Ryan Waterfield to pull out the one-point victory.

Capital Day was led in scoring by Carolyn Caton with five points. She also shared team rebounding honors, pulling down six, and she had one steal and one blocked shot. Ryan Waterfield had three points, six rebounds and one steal, and Sarah Caton had three points, five rebounds and a steal.

Heather Weir, who played a strong inside defensive game, had two steals, and Whitney Chisholm and Tiffany Fields each had one rebound.

Capital Day's record is now 17-3, and it concludes its season in the Central Kentucky Girls Basketball League tournament next weekend in Lexington.

One of the Best is Here In Frankfort

PUBLISHED EVENINGS, SUNDAY THROUGH FRIDAY

We've given lots of kids a good home.

CENTURY 21 brokers and salespeople have put more families into homes than any other real estate sales organization, and CENTURY 21 Accent, Realtors is one of the leaders in real estate for the Frankfort area. We know how it's done — not only with homes, but also with investment properties.

We also recognize that the students of Capital Day are the leaders of the future for Frankfort, and we applaud the school and its students for their collective excellence. Quality education is most often the key to success, and Capital Day is at the top. Congratulations to the school, its administration and faculty, the students, and their parents!
